

QUESTION

Multiple-Choice (MCQ)

Q1	Q2	Q3	Q4
1. A patient with a long history of rheumatoid arthritis presents with a new, painful, red, swollen joint. The joint is most likely to be the:	1. The knee	1. The knee	1. The knee
2. A patient with a long history of rheumatoid arthritis presents with a new, painful, red, swollen joint. The joint is most likely to be the:	2. The hip	2. The hip	2. The hip
3. A patient with a long history of rheumatoid arthritis presents with a new, painful, red, swollen joint. The joint is most likely to be the:	3. The ankle	3. The ankle	3. The ankle
4. A patient with a long history of rheumatoid arthritis presents with a new, painful, red, swollen joint. The joint is most likely to be the:	4. The wrist	4. The wrist	4. The wrist
5. A patient with a long history of rheumatoid arthritis presents with a new, painful, red, swollen joint. The joint is most likely to be the:	5. The shoulder	5. The shoulder	5. The shoulder
6. A patient with a long history of rheumatoid arthritis presents with a new, painful, red, swollen joint. The joint is most likely to be the:	6. The elbow	6. The elbow	6. The elbow
7. A patient with a long history of rheumatoid arthritis presents with a new, painful, red, swollen joint. The joint is most likely to be the:	7. The hand	7. The hand	7. The hand
8. A patient with a long history of rheumatoid arthritis presents with a new, painful, red, swollen joint. The joint is most likely to be the:	8. The foot	8. The foot	8. The foot
9. A patient with a long history of rheumatoid arthritis presents with a new, painful, red, swollen joint. The joint is most likely to be the:	9. The spine	9. The spine	9. The spine
10. A patient with a long history of rheumatoid arthritis presents with a new, painful, red, swollen joint. The joint is most likely to be the:	10. The neck	10. The neck	10. The neck