

QUESTION ANSWER EXPLANATION

The correct answer is 1. The patient is experiencing a seizure. The nurse should first ensure the patient's safety by removing any objects that could cause injury. The nurse should then turn the patient onto their side to help prevent aspiration. The nurse should not restrain the patient or try to force the mouth open.

ANSWER EXPLANATION

The correct answer is 1. The patient is experiencing a seizure. The nurse should first ensure the patient's safety by removing any objects that could cause injury. The nurse should then turn the patient onto their side to help prevent aspiration. The nurse should not restrain the patient or try to force the mouth open.

QUESTION ANSWER EXPLANATION

The correct answer is 1. The patient is experiencing a seizure. The nurse should first ensure the patient's safety by removing any objects that could cause injury. The nurse should then turn the patient onto their side to help prevent aspiration. The nurse should not restrain the patient or try to force the mouth open.