

1. The first step in the process of identifying a problem is to determine the nature of the problem.

2. Identify the problem.

The first step in the process of identifying a problem is to determine the nature of the problem.

2. Identify the problem. The first step in the process of identifying a problem is to determine the nature of the problem.

3. Determine the cause of the problem.

4. Develop a plan of action.

5. Implement the plan.

6. Evaluate the results of the plan.

7. Adjust the plan as necessary.

8. Monitor the progress of the plan.

9. Report the results of the plan.

10. Review the process and make improvements.

11. Document the results of the plan.

12. Communicate the results of the plan.

13. Celebrate the success of the plan.

12.

13. Celebrate the success of the plan.

14. The final step in the process of identifying a problem is to determine the nature of the problem.