

The truck is a heavy-duty model, likely a Super Duty or similar, equipped with a Cummins diesel engine. It is shown in a natural setting, possibly a farm or construction site.

This section contains a list of items or specifications, possibly related to the truck's maintenance or parts. The text is partially obscured but appears to include terms like 'oil', 'filter', and 'fluids'.

This block contains a list of items, likely a parts list or maintenance schedule. The items are listed in a vertical column and include various components and their associated costs or quantities.

This section contains a list of items, possibly related to the plant or the metal parts shown in the image above. The text is partially obscured but appears to include terms like 'oil', 'filter', and 'fluids'.

This block contains a list of items, likely a parts list or maintenance schedule. The items are listed in a vertical column and include various components and their associated costs or quantities.